

NOVEMBER TERM OF COURT

OLIVER SHARRAH INDICTED FOR MURDER BY GRAND JURY.

John D. Keith, Esq., Appointed to Assist in Murder Trial and Case Continued to January Court.

The November term of court scheduled as a two weeks' court proved to be a record breaker for brevity. It was the last regular jury court over which President Judge S. McC. Swope will preside. The criminal calendar was short. Seven cases were on the trial list of civil cases. A half day brought the court to an end. There was no case, criminal or civil, tried. The Grand Jury acted upon one bill, that against Oliver Sharrah in which murder in the first degree was charged. The returns of the constables were very slim, indicative of a peaceful condition.

The constable of Littlestown reported the turnpike through borough of Littlestown as out of repair and very rough.

The constable of Mt. Pleasant township reported two slot machines one at F. G. Hemler's house and Harry Tressler's restaurant.

The constable of Franklin township reported the road from Hilltown to Willow Grove out of repair. Index boards were down at Willow Grove, Paradise School House, Riddlemeyer's, Andrew Kane's, and Howard Walter's. Process was awarded for the supervisors of Franklin township.

The constable of Reading township reported foot log at Mary Asner's fording out of repair.

James Sadler and Joseph Shank were appointed tipstaves for first week of court and Edgar Brenizer and Amos Palmer for the second week.

The Grand Jury was next called and sworn. The Court in addition to the usual directions called attention to the murder case which would be considered by them. The definition of murder and the essentials in establishing a prima facie case to the satisfaction of the Grand Jury were called to their attention.

The Court had a little trouble in finding a foreman, a half dozen men asked to serve in that capacity asked to be excused as being the first time they had served on the Grand Jury. J. C. Peters was appointed the foreman.

Grand Jury.

The Grand Jury retired and took up the case of the Commonwealth vs. Oliver Sharrah, charged with the murder of Peter I. Dearborn on Sunday morning, Oct. 10. The first witness examined was that of Dr. Woerner, coroner of the county, who detailed the facts when called to the Sharrah home. Several other witnesses from the long list subpoenaed were examined and the Grand Jury determined to report a true bill. This ended their labors.

On motion of District Attorney Wible, the Court appointed John D. Keith, Esq., to assist the District Attorney in the trial of the murder case and immediately following the return of a true bill, John D. Keith, Esq., moved a continuance of the case to the January Court, which was not opposed and continuance was granted.

Granddaughter of Founder.

The granddaughter of the founder of Gettysburg, Mrs. Fisher, recently celebrated her 90th birthday at Athens, Tennessee, and the occasion was marked by a reunion and dinner and proved a happy event. Mrs. Ann M. Fisher's maiden name was Ann Maria Gettys. She was born in Gettysburg, Pa., on October 6, 1825. Her grandfather, Gen. James Gettys, was the founder of Gettysburg and gave the town its name. Mrs. Fisher's father moved to Athens in 1826, when Mrs. Fisher was about one year old. The trip to Tennessee was made by wagon and consumed about one month of time. The town of Athens had been laid out only a few years previous and Mrs. Fisher says it was unhealthy because of so much decaying timber. Mrs. Fisher's mother died when she was very young. Her father having married again a visit was made to relatives in Gettysburg when Mrs. Fisher was about 8 years old. Her father and step-mother rode in a carriage and the children occupied a covered wagon. It took one month to make the journey. Imagine a month's journey over the roads of 80 years ago! Mrs. Fisher was married to R. M. Fisher on April 20, 1843. Eight children were born to this union of whom five are living. Mrs. Fisher has lived continuously on the lot where she now resides ever since her marriage in 1843—72 years ago. Mrs. Fisher is enjoying remarkably good health, is in full possession of all her faculties, is very fond of reading and gives promise of living to be 100 years of age.

Winning Distinction in Art World.

A native son of Gettysburg, Lytton Briggs Buehler, has been winning distinction and high praise for his work in the world of art. He has five water color pictures at the Annual Exhibition of the Philadelphia Water Color Club in connection with the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts. These pictures have commanded attention and critical commendation.

The Philadelphia "Inquirer" of Sunday, November 7th, gives this notice:

Five water colors by Lytton Briggs Buehler, of which four are placed in gallery H, and the fifth unaccountably side tracked in the corridor that leads to the rear elevator, are among the distinguished things of the show and are very beautiful presentations of Atlantic City under different effects of light.

These water colors by Mr. Buehler contain the essence of beauty in painting. They have individuality, a charming vision, a luminosity and a consistency in their whole making that shows an artist of pure quality.

A $30,000 Y. M. C. A. Building.

The General Woman's League of Gettysburg College in the closing session last Friday morning, decided that the League would direct all energies toward a fund of $30,000 for the erection of a Y. M. C. A. building at the College. In response to a request by the executive committee to President Granville several weeks ago, to state an object toward which all might work, the president suggested a $30,000 Y. M. C. A. hall. At Friday morning's meeting, the committee recommended the plan with a fund twice that stated by Dr. Granville and, after some consideration, the project was unanimously accepted. About $2,000 has already been secured for the purpose.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. William Hamilton Bayly, Washington, D. C.; Vice Presidents, Mrs. H. W. A. Hanson, Harrisburg; Mrs. V. H. Fager, Harrisburg; Mrs. C. F. Stifel, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Henry Anstadt, Washington, D. C.; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Karl J. Grimm, Gettysburg; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Charles F. Sanders, Gettysburg; Treasurer, Mrs.

Harry McCreary, Indiana; Executive Committee, Mrs. Hanson, chairman; Mrs. John F. Dapp, Harrisburg; Mrs. W. A. Granville, Gettysburg; Mrs. W. F. Strouse, Baltimore; Mrs. G. N. Lauffer, Steadon; Mrs. J. L. Burgoon, Gettysburg; Mrs. Murrey, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Albert Bell, York; Mrs. D. A. Buehler, Harrisburg; and Mrs. A. L. Phillips, Conshohocken. Mrs. H. C. Alleman was appointed chairman of the literature committee.

An interesting symbolic pageant featured the Thursday evening meeting of the League in Brna Chapel. About twenty-five students participated all of them in costume. Miss Ethel Baschoar, as Alma Mater, heard the claims of each one of the various branches of college endeavor to pre-eminence, the students representing Greek, Latin, the Modern Languages, Mathematics, Physics, Engineering, Geology, and all the other branches taught at Gettysburg. A party of ten students then appeared to ask Alma Mater which they should believe and the natural reply followed, that all were wrong and all were right, that it required knowledge of each and all to make a well-rounded education. The idea was conceived and well developed by Mrs. Julius F. Seebach, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John A. Himes.

The report of the treasurer, Mrs. Harry McCreary, Indiana Pa., showed a balance on hand of $145.41. The receipts from various sources for the year, amounting to $1323.37. Items in the expense fund were:

A. Martin, Mrs. Clyde B. Stover, Miss Anna Reck, Miss Hattie Krauth, Miss Katherine Duncan, Miss Elsie Grilach, Mrs. Harold Lewars.

The object of the Guild is the collecting of plain, new and suitable garments to meet the great need of hospitals, homes, and other public and private charities. One of these members makes an annual contribution of money toward the necessary expenses of the society; the others contribute two or more garments apiece. Men, women and children are eligible for membership. There are no meetings except an annual one of the officers and directors at which the number and variety of garments is reported, the supply distributed and officers elected. Any useful garment will be acceptable. Among those for which there is most need are night gowns and night shirts, underwear, flannel shirts, especially in dark colors, knitted goods, sheets, towels and pillow cases.

The garments collected will be distributed according to the judgment of the directors to the worthy poor of Gettysburg, and none will be sent out of the town unless there should be a surplus at the end of the year. No garments are carried over from year to year. No garments will be given except in cases of undoubted necessity.

Any director of the organization will be glad to give further information. An invitation is extended to all to join one of the existing sections. Any person who will form a new section will be welcomed to the Board of Directors.

It is expected that all contributions will be in the hands of the directors on or before Tuesday, November 16. Reports of the work of the society will be given from time to time in the newspapers.

LEWIS BARBEHENN,

Administrator.

Donald Mummert, son of Mrs. Florence Mummert, of Harrisburg, formerly of East Berlin, has been elected vice president of the Junior class of Lafayette College, where she is a student.

The Palace of Liberal Arts at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. It contains the exhibit of the Bell System and is the western terminal of the Transcontinental line.

Transcontinental Terminals

This Telephone building in New York is the eastern terminal of the Transcontinental line.

AMONG the many wonderful things worth seeing at the Panama-Pacific Exposition, which President Hadley of Yale has described as "the most beautiful and inspiring exposition the world has ever seen," the Transcontinental demonstration of the Bell System has won distinction and has been awarded the Grand Prize of Electrical Methods of Communication.

For the first time, perhaps, thousands who have visited the Bell Telephone Exhibit have realized what the wonderful long distance development of the Bell System means to them personally; how it links them to their home interests no matter where they are, and increases the range of their social and business activities.

One of the practical results of this striking demonstration of long distance development will be a larger use of the Bell long distance and toll lines which unite 9,000,000 telephones covering the whole country.

Your Bell Telephone Makes You the Near Neighbor of Your Farthest-Away Fellow Citizen.

These are the Prizes

The First Prize

Five Second Prizes

Ten Third Prizes

Ten Fourth Prizes

Thirty-four Ninth Prizes

1st Prize:

New Perfection Fireless Cooking Oil Stove No. 7 will be awarded the writer of that letter, listing the largest number and the most practical uses for kerosene, other than lighting and heating. The value of this stove is

$33.00

It has every feature that will in the slightest contribute to better cooking with lessened effort. It combines a four-burner stove, fireless cooker, oven, broiler and warming shelf in one compact, yet roomy, cooking device.

New Perfection Oil Cook Stove No. 3

There are five of these handsome substantial three-burner stoves offered as second prizes. They will be given to the writers of the five second longest and best lists of kerosene uses. These stoves sell for $10.75 each, are strongly made, simple to use, economical of kerosene and help you cook better and lessen your work.

Perfection Smokeless Oil Heater No. 230

Think of it, ten heaters as third prizes—and they'll make the homes of the tea successful housewives brighter, cosier and warmer during the cold weather months. And all you have to do to get one is to be one of the writers of the third ten most lengthy lists of practical kerosene uses. These third prizes, beautifully finished in blue, cost $4.85 each at the stores.

Perfection Smokeless Oil Heater No. 430

Ten fourth prizes, each costing $4.85, crumpled in a tasty blue, and each as good a heater from the standpoint of service as money can buy. It's not going to take a whole lot of thought to send in sufficient kerosene uses to win one of these prizes, and they do make the home brighter, because they stop the complaints of cold and keep the family smiling.

9th Prize

Rayo Lamps

Thirty-four beautiful RAYO LAMPS constitute the eighth group of prizes. They will be awarded just as are the other prizes. These lamps sell for $1.50 each, and no more handsome nor can one be bought at any price, they give a clearer, softer light or one that is as clean to use.

100 Free Prizes for You Women Who Tell Us the Most Uses for KEROSENE

It's past belief how many women, good housewives too, think that kerosene is good only for lighting and heating. But then, of course, there are other hundreds of you who know its uses are almost boundless.

Some tell us they've tried kerosene as a floor polish—and find it splendid—that it will preserve the finish and beauty of a fumed oak set better than the most costly dressing, and, mixed with whiting, with almost no rubbing, will make nickel trimmings glisten. Then, for cleaning the porcelain bath tub, nothing equals kerosene. It leaves it shining snowy white.

What Do You Do With Kerosene?

What are your pet methods for making kerosene work for you? You are probably acquainted with many helpful, practical uses, if you'll only just take a little time and dig them up, out of the store of your household experience.

Write down all you can think of. Send your list to the Contest Department of the Atlantic Refining Company, and you're just as likely as not to be one of the fortunate winners of any one of the 100 valuable prizes pictured in this advertisement.

It's ordinary common sense and not fancy composition that'll win these useful, handsome awards. All we want you to do is just tell us in your own way how you have found kerosene useful around the house.

The letter that lists the greatest number and the most practical uses for kerosene will win the first prize—a $33 New Perfection Oil Cook Stove—a prize well worth getting, for it surely does lighten the drudgery of cooking.

The next best five letters will be judged on the same basis, and for the writers of these there are five New Perfection Oil Cook Stoves (each valued at $10.75) to make work easier in the homes of five enterprising housewives.

In the same way the remainder of the 100 desirable prizes will be awarded. Read the list at the left.

Was there ever a chance to get so much for so little effort—no work, only a little thinking necessary—just write what your housework has taught you, but please use only one side of the paper and be certain your letter reaches us before December 1st, 1915, for on that date this contest positively closes.

Remember, the greater the number of uses you submit and the more practical each is, the more certain is the chance of your securing any one of these hundred splendid prizes.

Don't wait till the last day, but begin making up a list immediately—the longer the list the better your chance.

The Atlantic Refining Company Philadelphia

Besides the illustrated prizes, there are ten fifth and an equal number of sixth, seventh and eighth prizes, all splendid, serviceable Perfection Oil Heaters which your dealer sells for $3.80, $3.70, $3.60 and $3.30, respectively.

Planting Sugar Cane.

In a bulletin of the Pan-American union on cane sugar in the Americas it is stated that sugar cane is planted, not sown. A small piece of the cane, long enough to include two or three of the rings, or nodes, is laid lengthwise, or stuck in a slanting direction, along a furrow which runs the length of the field. In some sections the primitive fashion of planting in holes is still employed. When the trench is planted the pieces of cane are lightly covered with earth. In a few weeks they show growth above the ground, the green buds at the rings having begun to shoot out in the form of young cane, the ring having at the same time thrown out rootlets into the soil. The parallel trenches are made far enough apart, say at least three feet, to enable the workers when the wide spreading canes are getting ripe to go between the rows and remove the drying leaves which burden the ripening cane, thereby enabling the naked cane to mature faster.

Not Necessary.

"When you are at a loss for a suitable word do you ever apply to your wife?" "No," replied the writer. "I don't have to. Her entire vocabulary is coming my way most of the time."—Chicago Post.

Program Has Been Completed for the Occasion, with Instructors and Evening Entertainments.

Wednesday Evening Attraction.

SMITH-SPRING-HOLMES ORCHESTRAL QUINTET.

Messrs. Clay Smith and G. E. Holmes of the Smith-Spring-Holmes Orchestral Quintet are well known composers in the musical world. The published compositions of Mr. Holmes alone number more than sixty, besides twenty-four sets of saxophone quartets and many duets, solos and trios. The compositions of Clay Smith, instrumental and vocal, number over forty. The compositions of both Mr. Holmes and Mr. Smith include both brass and wood instruments.

Miss Alma Forsyth, solo violinist, is a graduate of the Illinois College Conservatory of Jacksonville and has devoted four years to postgraduate work under such well known violinists as Ludwig Becker of the Thomas Orchestra and W. E. Krich, formerly of the faculty of the Stern Conservatory of Berlin. Miss Forsyth has the rare ability to produce a tremendous tone without sacrificing the finer qualities. She is gifted with an unusual musical temperament and has a clear, brilliant technique.

Clay Smith was first trombonist with Barnum & Bailey one season; also trombonist with the Kilties Band; was one season soloist with Richards' Concert Orchestra; first trombonist with Finner's Concert Band; trombonist with Rosenbecker's Orchestra; first trombonist with Carl Clair's Concert Band in a tour of every state in the Union but three, also Mexico and Canada; also trombonist one season with tion in Pryor's Conservatory one season. He had written musical compositions which were published before he was eighteen years old. His music is used now by most of the bands and orchestras on both sides of the water. Including such celebrated bands as Sousa's, Innes', Kilties', Banda Rossa's, Weber's and others.

Miss Coyle May Spring entered the Lyceum field six years ago. She traveled one season with a ladies' quartet as reader and soprano, then one season alone, and after that for the next three years, was with the Apollos. Then for two seasons she headed her own company—the Coyle May Spring Concert Company.

Miss Lotus F. Spring has been cello soloist with her sister's company for the past two seasons. She has played with several well known local orchestras in Chicago and Denver. She has a beautiful mezzo soprano voice.

Thursday Evening Attraction.

THE AMERICAN QUARTET.

The American Quartet and Clayton Conrad will render a program consisting of both vocal and instrumental music, interspersed with cartoons, just such a program as Lyceum audiences delight in.

The instrumental music will be presented by three members of the quartet on the violin, cello and piano.

The length of the program will be about one hour and forty minutes, one half hour being devoted to the work of Mr. Conrad, the cartoonist.

Clayton Conrad features speech in drawing his pictures. His experience in newspaper cartoon and commercial art work, combined with fine ideas of color, fits him well for the position he holds with this company.

The pictures he draws in color are original and are new ideas presented in a novel way. He uses two easels. Mr. Conrad has made a special study of coloring, and the results he obtains in a few moments with crayons are truly wonderful.

The cartoons and caricatures he draws are of the highest order of fun and are bound to make you laugh and cause you to forget your worries and care.

The personnel of this quartet is as follows: J. M. Sawyer, first tenor and accompanist; Clayton Conrad, second tenor, flutist and cartoonist; Paul Fairchild, baritone and cellist; L. E. Gilbert, bass, violinist and reader.

Our Mica Mines.
Mica mining in the United States started early in the nineteenth century in New Hampshire, which state supplied all the domestic production until about 1868, when mining was started in North Carolina and subsequently in other states. At present the greater part of the sheet mica is used in the electrical industry, and most of the scrap mica is ground for use in the decorative trade, especially in wall paper.

DEATH OF DR. GEO. R. KUHN

PHYSICIAN AND FOUNDER OF CATHOLIC BENEVOLENT LEGION

Dr. Sylvanus Stall, Clergyman and Author, Dies at Atlantic City
After a Brief Illness.

Dr. George Richard Kuhn, 68 years old, founder of the Catholic Benevolent Legion, and medical examiner in chief for the order since it was organized, died Nov. 6, from paralysis, at his residence in Brooklyn, N. Y. The funeral was held on Tuesday with interment in the Holy Cross Cemetery, following a requiem mass in the R. C. Church of the Sacred Heart, Clermont avenue, near Park avenue, of which Dr. Kuhn was a prominent member for many years.

Dr. Kuhn had been a resident of the Hill section of Brooklyn for more than forty years and he had practiced medicine there during that time. He was known among Catholics throughout the United States, as he had been the medical examiner of the entire Catholic Benevolent Legion from the time of its inception in the parish of St. John's College to the time of his death.

Dr. Kuhn was a member of the Medical Society of the County of Kings, the Brooklyn Pathological Society, the Physicians Mutual Aid Society of New York, the Society for the Relief of Widows and Orphans of Medical Men. He was a member of Sacred Heart Council, C. B. L., and a member of the supreme council of that order in this country.

Dr. Kuhn was born in East Berlin, Pa., youngest son of the late Associate Judge J. J. Kuhn, and was a graduate of Calvert College, Baltimore, Md. He later graduated from the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and still later was a graduate of Long Island Medical College.

Dr. Kuhn married Miss Mary Hussey, who survives him, with three daughters, Mrs. Peter J. McGoldrick, Miss Pauline J. Kuhn, and Miss Ruth Agnes Kuhn, and a son, John Sutherland Kuhn; also a sister, Mrs. Jare E. Reilly, and two brothers, Judge Joseph A. Kuhn of Port Townsend, Wash., and John R. Kuhn, a lawyer of Brooklyn.

Dr. Sylvanus Stall, clergyman and author, of Philadelphia, whose works on sexology are read all over the country, died in Atlantic City on Tuesday. Dr. Stall is survived by a widow, Mrs. Kate Buehler Stall, a daughter, Mrs. W. E. Cash, of New York, and Roy L. Stall, a district passenger agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The body was taken to Philadelphia. Interment will be made at Gettysburg on Saturday. Dr. Stall was born in Elizaville, Columbia county, N. Y., October 18, 1847, and was left an orphan at an early age, with no better equipment than a common school education. He obtained employment in New York City and quickly rose to the position of salesman and later of cashier with Lord & Taylor. In 1866 he entered Hartwick Seminary, New York; then studied at Pennsylvania College, Gettysburg, and at the Union Theological Seminary, N. Y., and was ordained to the ministry of the Lutheran Church in 1874. The perusal of an obscene book, tendered to him by a former playmate, became so repulsive to him that he resolved that some day, he would brave public sentiment and supply growing youths with pure and clean, truthful and honest books on personal and social purity. To his first tentative publications "What a Young Boy Ought to Know" and "What a Young Man Ought to Know," succeeded "What a Young Husband Ought to Know" and "What a Man of Forty-five Ought to Know," and the appreciation of his efforts grew to such an extent that his books were translated into all the leading languages of the human race.

Doctor Stall was also the author of "The Pastor's Pocket Record," "Handbook of Hymns," "How to Pay Church Debts," "Methods of Church Work," "Five-minute Object Sermons," "Talks to the King's Children," "Bible Selections for Daily Devotions," "Faces Toward the Light," "The Social Peril" and "Parental Honesty."

Interment will be made at Gettysburg on Saturday, in Evergreen Cemetery, with six students of the Gettysburg Theological Seminary acting as pall-bearers. Dr. Stall directed that the following message be read to the students at Gettysburg from the side of his open grave:

"To the students of the Theological Seminary at Gettysburg, and all others:

"I have reached the end of the journey upon which you are just entering. I have a message for you from my open grave. Let me impress upon you the importance of a full, unqualified and complete acceptance of the Scriptures from cover to cover as the inspired and infallible Word of God. If you cannot accept it as such, let me say to you, you will have no message, and you ought never to enter the ministry. Preach Jesus Christ and Him crucified as the only hope of the sinner, and the only Saviour of a lost and ruined world. Live and labor for God and humanity. May the God of all grace abundantly bless and prosper you."

He was a man of great physical vigor notwithstanding he was in his 88th year and would have reached this birthday next month. He could chop wood and do other manual labor with the ease that he did such work 20 and 30 years ago. He took sick during Wednesday and after four o'clock Thursday morning called his daughter-in-law and said he was sick and when she suggested sending for a physician he insisted he would be better in a few minutes and that one of the boys would lie close against his back. This was done and Mrs. McKendrick left the room, and shortly her son called to her. Mr. McKendrick had lost consciousness and death followed at half past five o'clock. Mr. McKendrick was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McKendrick and born in Buchanan Valley and lived there until seven years ago when the family moved to a farm near this place and later to town. RED MIKE'S HAUL

How a Burglar Was Trapped by a Girl

By F. A. MITCHEL

I was visiting at the Middletons' country place. It was in the sweet summer time, when one's especial desire is to lie in a hammock or paddle about in a boat or do anything that requires no exertion. Then, too, the warm season is particularly adapted to spooning. Miss Georgia Middleton was apparently not averse to that sort of thing, so I spooned with her. In fact, she began it. I am always distrustful of a girl who doesn't wait for a man to enter upon a flirtation. It is prima facie evidence that she is in for a bit of fun at his expense.

Mr. Middleton owned a ranch in the west and had spent much of his time there. The consequence was that Georgia, who took a liking to ranch life, was with her father in the west more than in the east. She was therefore a mixture of lady and hoyden. Conventionality she spurned. She had spent enough of her life in civilization to become familiar with good manners and enough time in the west to cause her to practice them only when it suited her own sweet will.

The eastern country home of the Middletons was in sizable grounds, covered with virgin timber. Georgia was as much at home on a horse's back as on her feet and scoured the country mounted and alone. When her father suggested her taking her groom with her she replied: "No, thanks. I have no mind to bring sorrow on my dear papa's head by exposing myself to the blandishments of a good looking stable man. I'd rather run the risk of a cowboy." Since it was well known that when any lovelorning was in the wind Miss Georgia was the aggressor this statement was taken for what it was worth.

One day the cook and chambermaid fell out and left the premises short of servants. I came down to breakfast to find Miss Georgia in the kitchen in spotless white, a paper cap on her head, handling the cooking utensils with the handiness of a chef. The costume was very becoming, and I complimented her on her appearance in it.

"That's the reason I put it on," she said. "I've plenty of old clothes that serve the purpose better, but I wouldn't look as well in them."

By such frank speeches Georgia won the confidence of those about her, but there was usually a method in them.

Having prepared an excellent breakfast, it suddenly occurred to this wayward young lady to have a ride on her cob about the grounds in her cook's costume. She usually rode astride; but, not having on her bloomers on this occasion, she used a saddle with a horn. Galloping along through the timber, she saw a man skulking in the distance. Riding toward him, she observed that he was by no means well looking. Indeed, he had the appearance of belonging to the criminal classes.

"Good mornin' to you," he said. "Excuse me, missis' saddle horse?"

It occurred to Georgia that, being in cook's costume, she had been mistaken for a servant.

"Yes," she replied. "The missis isn't well. If the cob isn't taken out every day he gets fractious."

"You're a nice lookin' girl, too nice lookin' for a cook. You ought to be a lady's maid."

"I am a lady's maid. The cook went away yesterday, and I had to go into the kitchen. But what are you doing here?"

"Well, this lookin' like a fine place I thought there might be some chance for a maid."

"Like enough you're looking for something better than a maid," replied Georgia in a dry tone.

"What's that you're sayin'?"

"I'm on to the likes of you. I've been a partner in such jobs myself."

"What kind of jobs?"

"Oh, I know you're looking for a crib to crack, and I know the safest way to get the swag out handy and without getting caught is to have a helper among the servants."

The man scrutinized the girl's face, hesitating to trust her.

"How's a man to know you won't give him away?" he said presently.

"He doesn't know it. He's got to go in on faith. If he wants to be treated right he must do the right thing by his helper."

"What do you call the right thing?"

"Well, he's got to put up something beforehand and agree to divide the profits after the job's done."

"Suppose he hasn't anything to put up?"

"Then I can't see how he can get started on the job."

But finally the supposed lady's maid threw off her demand for a guarantee fund and agreed to turn over her mistress' jewels provided the party of the first part would agree to dispose of the plunder and divide the profits. She told the man where he would find a ladder in an outhouse, how he could climb to a certain window on the second floor, which he would find open; how he could enter a room where there would be a box of jewels on a dresser. When this agreement had been made the man retreated and Georgia rode back to the house to report the interview.

She was reproved by her mother.

who did not for a moment suppose that she had the remotest idea of carrying her prank any further, nor did I. Mrs. Middleton proposed that on the night appointed for the robbery the gate should be locked and the police be called to protect the premises. Mr. Middleton was in the city and not expected at home for several days. I, being the only man present, ventured to suggest to Mrs. Middleton that the man would not be so glib as to trust himself in the hands of a stranger and nothing would come of it, but the lady declared that she believed many robberies were committed by connivance of the servants and this was a case in point.

After the matter had been duly discussed by all except its perpetrator, who had maintained a modest silence, Georgia as soon as she got me alone told me that she believed the man was a jailbird who had escaped or had ended his term and that she had completely deceived him. She asked me to assist her in carrying out her scheme. I told her that the police would be only too glad to be interested in it with a view to capturing the man red handed. I volunteered to sound them and learn what they would prefer to do.

I did so and was told, after giving them Georgia's description of the man, that he was probably Red Mike, who had recently been discharged after doing a term in state prison. They begged me to secure them an opportunity to trap him. I suggested that they put a guard around the Middleton grounds and take him as he entered, but they said that by this course they would have no charge to make against him, whereas if he were permitted to enter the house and was caught there carrying away property he could be sent back to prison for another term.

When I reported these facts to Georgia she asked me to grant the request of the police, but declared that the matter must be kept from her mother. I did not like to be mixed in a matter of dissimulation, but Georgia said it could be managed with her mother's knowledge of it. I finally left her to do as she pleased. She determined to communicate with her father, who, returning from the city, after hearing the story and giving his daughter the usual scolding upon one of her unusual pranks, decided to give the police the opportunity, if it occurred, to get in a criminal who was bent on making a dishonest living.

On the night of the expected burglary we amused ourselves as usual till about 11 o'clock, when we all went to our rooms, agreeing that all lights should be turned off at 12. The robbery was to be committed at 1. I turned off my light at the appointed time and sat in the dark in my clothes. My room overlooked the outhouse where the ladder that the burglar was to use was kept, and the window through which he was to enter was on the same side of the house. Shortly before 1 o'clock I began a watch upon the outhouse, but when ten minutes after the appointed time had elapsed and all was quiet I made up my mind that it was Georgia who had been fooled instead of the criminal.

At seventeen minutes of 2, when I was about to give up the watch and go to bed, I saw a figure stealing to the outhouse. The door had been purposely left ajar by the police, who were in a room overlooking the outhouse. I saw the figure carrying something which I presumed to be the ladder, though it was too dark to discern what it was, and by his motions I knew that he was raising one end against the house. Then I saw him slowly mount the rounds.

I had left my door open so that I could look into the hall and now went to take position at the door. It was not a minute, though it seemed longer, after this change that the electric lights on that floor were turned on, the police sprang from the room they occupied into the hall and thence into the room the burglar had entered. I ran to the door of the room they were in, reaching it just in time to see them seize the man and take from him a box, which one of them opened. It was filled with pebbles.

The household was up and about. No one had gone to bed, and as the burglar was led out through the hall he passed us all. When he came to Georgia I saw him start, for he saw her, not in cook's apparel, but dressed as a lady. He scowled at her, but with a policeman on either side of him and handcuffed he had no opportunity for reproaches. So he uttered no word.

Georgia, having played her prank, now regretted that she had been instrumental in returning a man to prison and began to urge her father to use his influence to prevent the rascal being prosecuted. But Mr. Middleton told her that the matter was not in his hands. The police had caught the robber red handed and had the necessary evidence to convict him.

Nevertheless, Georgia did not give up. She hired a lawyer to defend the man. She had trapped, and the thief got off on the ground that he had been persuaded to rob the person who had persuaded him, which was a conspiracy.

Georgia wound up her summer's amusements by bringing me to a declaration and refusing me. I suppose I should have condemned her, but I did not. I pretended that I had also been amusing myself, though I took care to show this by my bearing and not by words. The ruse was successful, and in time I married her.

I am happy to say that since our marriage my wife has behaved herself to my entire satisfaction. She plays no pranks—indeed, she has forgotten those she played in her girlhood. Our daughter, Georgia, is now approaching the age that her mother was when she scooped Red Mike, but her mother does not propose that her daughter shall scoop any one—that is, unless he should be a man with a fortune.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO.

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—which vary widely but may include pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatic pains, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right the danger is overcome. Doan's Kidney Pills have proven an effective kidney medicine.

Charles Wilson, farmer, R. F. D. 5, Gettysburg, says: "I have used several boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and have found them fine for kidney complaint. I had sharp twinges across the small of my back and in my sides. By using Doan's Kidney Pills in time, I was rid of these troubles."

Cleverness of Beavers.

Some beaver dams, if built by human beings, would be styled feats of engineering. They are by no means located haphazard. Each site is carefully selected and each dam accomplishes a purpose that seems as if reasoned out in advance. Trees are felled with a nicety that can be duplicated only by skilled woodsmen. And the beaver does not limit his tree cutting to saplings. In the Adirondacks the animals have been known to cut down trees twenty inches and more in diameter. They prefer yellow birch and poplar, though they will cut any tree that seems necessary to their purpose. The dams are built of alder sticks, mud and grass and are finally blanketed with moss, making a solid wall that often must be dynamited to be effectively destroyed. The cutting teeth of the beaver are very sharp and there is great power behind the little jaws. Ordinary beaver chips are about half the size of the chips made by the average woodchopper, and they much resemble chips made with an ax, so smoothly are they cut.

A White House Fete.

I know nothing more impressive in its dignity, more complete in its way, than the White House fete. It embodies all our best tradition of hospitality and cordiality—of perfection without ostentation. Then there is something in the atmosphere which hangs about it—especially during the days of a closing administration—which makes one think of that serenity that seems to cling around the woods of Mount Vernon and which appears there almost like a material reflex from the calm and tempered ripeness of its owner's soul. There is, I imagine, an affinity, a certain likeness in the magnanimity of all generous, wise and simple men whether of ancient or modern times. Alas, too hard for our generation of egotists to follow or even respect! The only ideal which is preached nowadays is "one's duty to oneself."—"Pieces of the Game."

His Real Victory.

The writer has seldom witnessed deeper feeling or more enthusiastic applause from a student audience than that which greeted the admission of a southern student who rose before the men of his university and confessed dishonesty in his habits. The young man had recently won the sophomore junior prize debate, but later in chapel he asked permission to make a statement to the student body, saying: "I overheard my opponent rehearsing his debate in an adjoining room, and, although I scamped my ears and refused to listen, my roommate took down the points. Afterward the temptation was so subtle and strong that I took the notes and arranged my debate accordingly and won. But," said the student, with feeling, "I stole it, and I have come to plead the forgiveness of the student body."—Christian Herald.

Poisons in Warfare.

There are many substances which may be employed to poison or asphyxiate an enemy, either by tempering the wind or by use in projectiles. Hydrocyanic acid, known as prussic acid, is so poisonous that a mere breath of it means instant death. Sulphuric anhydride when brought in contact with air combines rapidly with moisture absorbed from the air, producing sulphuric acid. Thrown in a bomb with just explosive charge enough to disrupt the bomb and scatter the sulphuric anhydride, the air for a large space about the explosion would be at once converted into a dense fog of sulphuric acid. Liquid ammonia similarly employed would instantly so fill the atmosphere with ammonia as to strangle all persons in the immediate vicinity.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The Heart of a Mouse.

A tiny mouse who lived near the house of a magician begged him to save her from the cat, of whom she lived in deadly terror. So the magician changed the mouse into a cat, and she went away delighted. In a few days she came back again in terror. "Oh, save me, save me now from the dog," she begged. And the magician changed her to a dog. A few days more and back she came, this time in deadly fear of a flier. "Nonsense," said the magician. "You have only the heart of a mouse, and afraid you will always be. It is the heart that tells."

The U. S. Government in its "Pure Food Law" does not "indorse" or guarantee any preparation as some manufacturers in their advertisements would make it appear. In the case of medicines the law provides that certain drugs shall be mentioned on the labels, if they are ingredients of the preparations. Ely's Cream Balm, the well-known family remedy for cold in the head, hay fever and nasal catarrh, doesn't contain a single injurious drug, so the makers have simply to print the fact that it complies fully with all the requirements of the law.

Y., writes: "For some time I was troubled with headache and distress in my stomach after eating, also with constipation. About six months ago I began taking Chamberlain's Tablets. They regulated the action of my bowels and the headache and other annoyances ceased in a short time." Obtainable everywhere.
